

Workshop on Leadership

(Creating a moving mission statement is essential to good leadership)

CONTENTS

- Golden rules to plan schedules
 - How to passionately lead and serve people.
 - Leadership is not about technical competence, business knowledge and politics.
 - How to inspire others to dream more, learn more, do more and become more.
 - How to disable destructive values like, 'lying is sometimes ok'.
 - How to keep people's attention on their organization's mission.
 - How to stand for something- values, ideas and dreams: that others respect
 - To manage is to manage yourself so that you can manage others.
 - Defeat your enemy by making him your friend
 - We recognize a leader by the number of his followers
 - Action, attitudes and habits are the by-products of our thoughts
 - If they trust you, they will follow you blindfoldedly
- However competent you are you can't do a single job single handedly...recognize the importance of team work.
 - Hear more, speak less
 - Your short answers and silence bewilders the other person, brief comments add to your personality. With more words you lose your impression.
 - When many think alike, implies just one person is actually working.
 - People like those who like them.
